WILTZ INTERNATIONAL SCOUT CENTRE

LUXEMBOURG

The tent camps are located either on the edge of a forest, along rivers and brooks, on hills with a wonderful view or in peaceful valleys. They are quite suited for activities of young people and scouts in the great outdoors.

The fox, marmot and beaver camps are in the Wiltz valley. A modern sanitary building, built in 2002 and corresponding to all requirements, is available to teenagers. Electrical connections are also provided.

The hare and wild boar camps are located in the middle of the forest, in the immediate vicinity of the center of the town of Wiltz and the Jitz chalet. The camp of the eagles is on a height overhanging the city of Wiltz, at the edge of a large beech forest.

The owl camp is behind the "Toutschenmillen"; it is primarily intended for former scouts and their families. A modern sanitary room with separation for men and women, hot and cold water, 2 showers, 4 sinks and 4 toilets is located in the adjacent building. Electrical connections are also provided.

BUCHER BERG BAVARIA

GERMANY

The International Guide and Scout Camp Bucher Berg is a colourful get together of scouts, guides and young people from all over the world. During this time we accomodate up to 400 people.

Those people live together, spend time with each other, exchange experiences and get to know each other. We have good reason not to divide the site into plots; we don't have fences and we don't allow exclusive bookings. Why that? We want our guests to get to know each other, to get in contact and to share experiences, and this leads to common decision processes and mutual understanding.

Scout Centre prices (During July/August) €9 nightly includes campsite facilities, Pioneering Wood and waste disposal.

INTERNATIONAL SCOUTING

The World Organization of the Scout Movement (WOSM) is a confederation of more than 170 National Scout Organizations with over 50 million members worldwide. It was formed to encourage the expansion and development of Lord Baden-Powell's dream throughout the world by promoting unity and the understanding of Scouting's purpose and principles.

Three main bodies make up WOSM: the World Scout Conference, the World Scout Committee, and the World Scout Bureau. In addition to the three main divisions, six regional conferences and committees of the WOSM meet regularly to implement decisions and policies locally. These regions include Africa, Arab, Asia-Pacific, Eurasia, Europe, and Interamerica.

World Scout Jamborees and World Scout Moots are official international Scout events of WOSM. These events help develop greater understanding, tolerance, and cooperation among Scouts from around the world. As Baden-Powell said, it allows Scouts "to assume new responsibility for promoting peace and goodwill."

International Scouting is an exciting prospect for all troops but it requires a lot of planning. Please get in touch to ensure your Scouters have the requisite training completed to travel abroad. Our International team are here to help you get there.
